- On a washable tray, place a paper towel.
- Pour some nontoxic liquid paint onto the paper towel
- Make various trays of various colours.
- Provide children various Kitchen gadgets such as Masher, ladles, spoons, or any other non sharp plastic kitchen gadgets you may use for baking/cooking.
- Provide the children with various colours of paper; preferably Construction paper as it is quite absorbent.
- Children may dip the gadget into the paint and then press it onto their paper.
- Encourage the children to explore the various colours and gadgets to continue to print onto their paper/s.
- Try doing this as a group project with a piece of cardboard or a poster board.
- If you like, before the paint is dry add other details like sparkles, tissue paper, powder etc.
- Try adding sprinkles of other powdered paint!
